- What do I want to learn or understand better?
- How can I help someone else, or the entire team, to learn something new?
- What is my contribution towards the team's use of Scrum? What is my contribution towards the team's deliveries?

This sprint I worked on a large task(user story) together with a team member. We sat a lot of time discussing this task and realised that there could have been more discussion in the group meeting on this task. We interpreted the user story differently me and my other team member. The problem was that even though it was a large task it could have been fairly easy using and implementing other user stories. It depended on how you interpreted the task, it had many solutions to it.

I think I benefited a lot from working together with a team member. We had the opportunity to talk about what we feel about the course and the project and we could talk about what we feel we have learned so far. Funny enough we both felt like this is one of the courses that has given us the most knowledge. We both felt like we have learnt a lot from this course more than in previous courses. The agile workflow is so useful to achieve progress in a team and it has shown.